2010 Lumberjack Days Button Now Available

Stillwater, Minn. – The 2010 Lumberjack Days Button is now available!

This year's button was designed by Ragan Sovell, a sophomore at the Stillwater Area High School. The design was one of many submitted and was chosen over the others for the content and regard to the area's lumbering heritage.

If you are planning to find the Lumberjack Day's Treasure, you will only receive the full prize if you have a 2010 Lumberjack Day's Button. The first clue for the treasure hunt will be read at the kick off of Lumberjack Days event at the Historic Courthouse on Wednesday evening July 21st.

The buttons are available at the Stillwater City Hall and the Warden's House Museum on North Main Street in Stillwater, along with other fine downtown Stillwater businesses. The cost of the button is $3 and all proceeds from the sales of the button go to the Washington County Historical Society.
